English: In English we started our new book of the term called 'Winter's child'! It is a book about courage, bravery and seasonal change linked to our learning of different climates and mountains. Why not ask your children to retell the short story to you?

Maths: In Maths, we have been building on our knowledge of multiplication through factor pairs, fact families, arrays and through problem solving. It has been great seeing a wide range of strategies to solve one problem.

Topic: As part of our science learning we have been sorting and classifying animals and linking it to our understanding of the world, and where the famous mountain regions are!

We summited and climbed to the peak of two of the tallest hills in London! It was hard work and really got our hearts racing and
